Your 1950 Football Program

Your new 1950 Weber College Football Programs are better than ever before. This season your program will be twenty-four pages and will sell for only ten cents. The program will contain new information about "Wildcat" opponents, pictures, rosters, starting line-ups and other information which will help you to enjoy the Weber College football games.

Also this season, for your added enjoyment we have subscribed to the Don Spencer Football Program service and each 1950 program will contain information about rules changes, feature articles on fouls, referee signals, etc.

Program purchasers this season will be kept chuckling by the series of famous football cartoons by Bo Brown which will be liberally sprinkled throughout the '50 program.

The Weber College athletic department wishes to express its gratitude to the advertisers in this booklet, who have made this program possible.

Tonight's Game . . .

If past Weber-Carbon games can be used as a standard to judge this evening's contest, this should be a "rough" one. Both teams traditionally "pour it on" when they meet each other. Although Weber has emerged from post-war gridiron games with Carbon the victor, anything but a pushover is expected tonight.

Carbon, under the mentorship of Jackson Jewkes, has always given her football opponents a full sixty minutes of driving football. Last season in a game played at Price, Weber succeeded in dumping Carbon with a score of 44-25 but only after a well-played contest. Carbon smashed through six games with thumping victories last season, downing Mesa twice, Fort Lewis Aggies (both from Colorado), Branch Aggies, Snow, and Westminster colleges. Carbon was humbled only three times last season at the hands of powerful Boise, Southern Idaho and Weber.

Last season Weber registered five games in the "win" column and took beatings from four opponents . . . those being Compton college, National Junior College football champs, Boise College, undefeated for thirty-one games, and California football giants, Los Angeles City College and Glendale. Weber men avenged their honor by taking the measure of Mesa, Carbon, Branch Aggies, Southern Idaho, and Fullerton (California). Weber College racked up an impressive offensive score of 238 total points last season while Weber opponents garnered 182 total points.

Tonight Ogden fans will see Weber College depart from its traditional "T" formation, which Milt Mecham has employed with good offensive scores for four years. Mecham has retained some of the colorful plays developed with the "T" but most Weber plays will be run from the single wing formation this season.

MAJOR FOOTBALL RULES CHANGES IN 1950

by CHARLES W. TUCKER, Jr.

AS A RESULT of the masterful job done by the Rules Committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association in recodifying the Rules Book last year, there are comparatively few basic rules changes to be made this year. However, no matter how expert a group may be in writing football rules, there are always certain "bugs" that develop on the field of play and there is a constant effort on the part of the Committee to eradicate these "bugs" season by season.

There are a few technical changes which will not be obvious from the spectator's point of view, but among the basic changes that will be most noticed this year are the following:

1. The Fair Catch has been abolished. No longer will it be confusing to the opponent as well as to the official whether or not the safety man is calling for a fair catch or merely trying to shade his eyes from the sun; and no longer will he be called back after a nice run for a touchdown and penalized 15 yards for an invalid signal. The rule has been abolished and a player can no longer make a signal for a fair catch (one hand extended clearly above the head).

On the other hand, a player of the receiving team who has an opportunity to make the catch must be given an unmolested opportunity to catch the ball and if he is interfered with by an opponent, he will be awarded a 15 yard penalty, plus the ball, whether he catches it or not.

2. Protection given holder of a place kick as well as kicker. The player kicking the ball has always been given protection and there is a 15 yard penalty for roughing the kicker. However, in the event of a place kick, the holder of a place kick was never specifically protected and in some cases took quite a beating. Under the new rule, the holder of a place kick is entitled to the same protection as the kicker and the penalty for roughing either is the same.

3. Offside fouls by opponents cancelled when snapper illegally moves the ball. After the snapper has assumed his position and adjusted the ball for the succeeding snap, he may neither move nor change the position of the ball until he snaps it. Any movement of this sort will result in a 5 yard penalty, whether or not the ball is snapped, and the penalty for any resultant offside by an opponent shall be cancelled.

4. Penalty for flying block and flying tackle deleted. Although few spectators were ever aware that there was such a rule, and even fewer officials ever inflicted the penalty, there was for many years a 5 yard penalty for a player making a flying block or flying tackle. This rule was primarily for the protection of the player making the flying block or flying tackle and, although the intent was good, the rule became practically inoperative through lack of use and has now been deleted.

5. Arms used in body block against opponent must be kept below shoulders of opponent throughout entire block. The rules permit the teammate of a runner to use his arms in supplementing a shoulder or chest block as long as his hands are kept in contact with his body throughout the block. However, last year considerable damage was done with elbows against the neck and face of an opponent.

This year in an effort to eliminate this unnecessary punishment of an opponent, the rule stipulates that when the arms are used in a chest block, the hands must not only be kept in contact with the body but the opponent must not be blocked above the shoulders unless, of course, he should squat or duck at the time the block is made.

6. Fouls during successful try for point after touchdown shall be penalized on succeeding kickoff. Last year when the defensive team fouled on a try for point after touchdown, as long as the point was made, the foul was forgotten in lieu of taking the result of the play. This year, the offended team will not only get the point, if they make it, but will also receive the penalty against the offending team on the following kickoff.

7. New ruling on player being down in his own end zone after catching opponent's forward pass or kick in the field of play. If a player in catching an opponent's forward pass or kick in the field of play is involuntarily carried into his own end zone by his own momentum in making the catch, and if he falls to the ground or is tackled before being able to change his direction and come out of the end zone, the ball will be declared dead in his possession at the spot it was caught in the field of play. Last year this would have been ruled a safety because the player in possession of the ball had carried it into his end zone, even though it was involuntary.

8. Time-Outs and Substitutions. This year each team is entitled to five free time-outs during each half without penalty. This is one more time-out in each half than they were allowed under the old rules. Also, this year the referee shall start the clock as soon as the ball is ready for play, if it was stopped as a result of a free time-out; whereas last year the clock was not started until the ball was snapped.

Under this year's rule, if Team "A" recovers its own kickoff, there is an automatic time-out, which is charged to the referee. Under last year's rule, it would have been necessary for Team "A" to use one of its free time-outs in order to get its offensive team back in the game.

If a substitution is made this year while the game clock is running and before the ball is ready for play, the referee shall allow the team one of its five free time-outs for such substitution. Last year they would have been penalized 5 yards for illegal delay. If after a team's five legal time-outs are exhausted, and a substitute runs on the field while the clock is running, and before the ball is ready for play, his team will be penalized 5 yards for illegal delay, even though there is no delay apparent to the spectators, as this is a violation of the substitution rule and is penalized under illegal delay of the game.

Milt Mecham, head football coach at Weber College, has consistently produced a gridiron club with lots of pep and fight.

"Milt", who is comparatively young, has the respect and friendship of the boys in his club and many who are familiar with "Wildcat" squad morale attribute it to Mecham's ability to mix and talk things over with his boys.

Mecham assumed head coach responsibilities in 1946. A graduate of the University of Utah, Mecham lettered with the "Ute" pigskin squad three years and coached freshman football for two years on the "U" campus.

Graduating from the Box Elder high school in 1934, he lettered under Coach Earl Ferguson and was All-State quarterback. Completing his Bachelor of Science Degree work at the "U" in 1938, he was inducted into the army in 1941 and discharged in 1945 as a captain.

He coached football at Ogden high school after his discharge until he took the "pigskin" reins for Weber College.

Mecham expects a banner year against W. C. opponents this year. The Wildcat squad, although greatly depleted by loss of many of its stellar lettermen, can be expected to deliver the best in football under Coach Mecham's able guidance this season.

WEBER ASSISTANT COACHES

JIM FOULGER Backfield

Jim Foulger is again playing a double role at Weber this year. Besides his part-time responsibilities as assistant football coach, he holds down the position of Weber College Treasurer. Because of his past personal experience as fullback in college and high school and the fact that he was a football coach for two years in the Ogden City School System, it was felt that he could lend new ideas and experience to the staff.

Jim received his Bachelor's and Master's Degrees from the University of Utah where he also played fullback on the "Ute" aggregation. He completed work for his Doctor's Degree at Harvard.

His coaching duties this season will be with the W. C. backfield.

CLAIR ANDERSON Line

Clair L. Anderson hails from the University of Utah, where for three years he worked on the "U" Physical Education staff.

"Andy" attended Manti High School and was a three-year letterman in basketball, tennis, track and baseball. He further matriculated at Snow Junior College and lettered for two years in football, track, baseball, and tennis.

Also a letterman for the "U" in basketball and tennis, "Andy" received his Bachelor's and Master's Degrees from that institution in Physical Education.

A veteran of four years service in the Navy, Anderson will take over the chores of line coach.

DICK WILLIAMS Backfield

Dick Williams is a new addition to the Weber coaching staff this year. Dick graduated from the University of Utah last spring with a major in Phys. Ed. He is also a graduate of Weber College where he gained widespread junior college recognition as a "Wildcat" halfback during the years of 1946-47. Williams graduated from Ogden High in 1942, where he also gained all-state recognition in the "Tiger" backfield.

He put in a three-year hitch in the army during the last war.

During his two years at Weber College Williams was given the KLO-Standard Examiner award as the best all-round athlete upon recommendation of the Weber College Athletic Council.

1950 WEBER COLLEGE FOOTBALL PROSPECTUS

Weber College gridders this season are hard at it, adjusting to a hard-hitting single wing formation. Head Coach Mecham feels that the material in the "Wildcat Line" this season is better adapted for the wing instead of the customary Weber "T." Weber has employed the "T" formation for four years to good advantage.

Mecham has some good backfield prospects in the form of returning lettermen Merrill Shupe, Rod Pollard, Ken Worton, Albert West, and Max Prescott. Some local talent from the high schools will also be unveiled. Weber has garnered its share of high school athletes this season and several of them are looking terrific in pre-season workouts. Running from the full-back spot this year is big Charlie Kalani who will be aided and abetted by Dick Faulkner and Junior Bybee, freshmen hopefuls. Assisting Shupe and Pollard at left-half positions this season will be all-state halfback Jack Andrews from Ogden high. Holding down right-half positions are lettermen Claude Mills and Freshman Judge Hawkes, also from Ogden high.

Looking big and mean on the Weber line this season will be returning lettermen, Norvin Butler, Eli Keolanui, Dale Gardner, Sonny Brae, and newcomer Ray Smith. The Weber line will not be as heavy this year but it will be faster and more adaptable. The backfield will be heavier than last season and at least as fast. Weber will not be as deep in reserves as last year.

At writing, the Weber team has not been affected by the Korean war. Should the Ogden national guard be called out as have the Logan, Salt Lake, and Cedar City guard units, several Weber team members will be called to duty.

Weber has one of the toughest, yet most colorful, football schedules in "Wildcat" history coming up this year. The Mecham coached squad will take on tough little Carbon College from Price, Utah, in the opening game of the season, September 15, at Ogden. Carbon gave Weber a nip-and-tuck battle for four quarters at Price last year and the Weber men are not looking for a pushover in the form of the Carbon "Eagles" this season.

Following the Carbon game, which is an I. C. A. C. conference tilt, Weber will match power with Ricks College of Rexburg, Idaho, in another conference game on the Ogden turf. Ricks garnered a berth above Weber in conference play last year and holds forth the promise of giving the "Wildcats" a tough ball game.

September 29 will bring Boise College to Ogden for what promises to be one of the most colorful games on the Weber schedule. Boise has drubbed Weber for three years, much to Weber's dismay. The Boise machine has plowed through two complete seasons without a defeat and has an unbroken string of thirty-one gridiron victories, an enviable record in anybody's book. Weber will "point" for the Boise game this year.

Two colorful Pacific Northwest teams will wind up the Weber home schedule. October 6 Oregon Tech. will test Weber and October 27 Clark College will conclude the home schedule. Oregon Tech. is located at Klamath Falls and Clark College at Vancouver, Washington.

In mid-October Weber will travel to California to meet junior college football giants Compton College and John Muir College. By all odds, Weber holds forth little promise of upsetting either of these traditionally powerful clubs, but California opponents usually bring out the best that's in the Weber squad and some classy football should be the result, win, lose or draw.

Weber will also hit the road to play Idaho at Albion and Branch Aggies at Cedar City in conference encounters. How Weber will fare in these games will probably depend on how badly (and if) they are shaken up from the California trials. Weber will end the season with a return trip to the "Golden State" where they will play College of the Sequoias of Visalia, California in the Silver King Bowl game. Visalia is "X," the unknown quantity on the "Wildcat" schedule this season. At any rate, Weber will point to give a good account for the Purple and White in the bowl.
